DESERVED

From Ayr, about the 10th day of December, from a recruiting party of Captain John Grant's second battalion, 42d, or Royal Highland regiment,

ALEXANDER MACALISTER, born in the parish of South Knapdale, in the shire of Argyle, had learned the business of a blaster at Glasgow, but had since been employed in driving cattle to some Argyle drover to Carlisle, aged about 27 years, 5 feet 8 inches high, brown hair, brown complexion, grey eyes, had on when he left Ayr the full regimentals of the regiment as a sergeant, had a beating-order as a sergeant, which he may think to screen himself by. He carried with him, when he deserted, a small handsome broad sword, and a silver-mounted shoulder-belt. Whoever shall apprehend the above Alexander Macalister, and lodge him in any of his Majesty's jails in Scotland, shall have THREE GUINEAS reward, over and above what is allowed by act of Parliament, by applying to Captain John Grant at Inverness, or Captain Grigor, paymaster of the regiment, at Perth.

N. B. If the above Alexander Macalister will surrender himself against the first day of March, he will be pardoned.

INTIMATION to the Heirs of the Parish of St Cuthbert's or WEST CHURCH.

A General Meeting of the Heirs, held on Monday last, in consequence of regular advertisements in the public papers, it was judged necessary, that, to the assent of three-pence on the pound of real rent laid on for the current year for support of the poor, an addition of one penny be also levied, so as to relieve the present exigencies of the Charity Work-house, and to assist in the discharge of the debt contracted by the increase of poor, occasioned partly by the late levies and the severity of the season. But as the meeting was rather thin, they delayed the laying on of this additional penny till Monday next the 14th current, when a general meeting of the heirs is to be held in John's coffeehouse Edinburgh, at 12 o'clock noon, for that and other purposes; and the heirs are requested to attend.

To the Justices of the Peace, and other Heirs of the Shires of ROSS and CROMARTY.

A Letter from Lord Stormont to the Lord Advocate, upon the subject of the internal defence of Scotland, having been transmitted to me, to be laid before you, I am to request the favour of your meeting at Tain on Wednesday the 1st day of March next, in order to consider thereof.

As the grounds upon which Lord Stormont gives the counties of Scotland room, to hope for procuring arms and ammunition from Government, are nearly the same upon which you offered, in the month of August last, to raise 600 men for your own defence, it is hoped all those gentlemen who can give personal attendance to this meeting will attend it, and that those who, from distance or bad health, cannot attend the meeting, will signify their opinion of the measures which ought to be adopted, by letter, addressed either to me or Sir John Gordon, preses of the last meeting.

DONALD M'LEOD, Sh. Dep.

By Authority of the Commissioners of Edinburgh.

TO be SOLD on Monday the 14th February current, within the warehouse of that land lately occupied as a public office, commonly called Durie's Office, opposite to Forrester's Wynd well, on the north side of the Lawnmarket.

LANGLEY'S EAST INDIA REPOSITORY

At Shakespeare's Tap-room, back of Prince's Street, New Town.

MR LANGLEY begs leave to return his most sincere thanks to the Ladies and Gentlemen of this city, for the many favours received in the course of his business. He really intended leaving this town two weeks ago, but, on account of the present changeable weather, he proposes staying a fortnight longer. And, having just got to hand a large assortment of articles that have been frequently demanded at the Sale-room, he begs those that were calling, and others that would chuse to be possessed of them, will not lose the opportunity. The goods are to be sold at very low prices, that, for cheapness and beauty, they will not fail to give pleasure to every purchaser. He hopes for a smart sale, as the goods are not charged near the original cost. In this variety are the following, among many other articles:—Fine Assortment Wire Mullins, upwards of six quarters wide, so low as 3 s. 9 d. per yard; Yard-wide Mullin, for Gentlemen's stocks, cravats, and handkerchiefs, at 3 s. 9 d. per yard; Fine Worked Mullin Aprons, bordered round, open-worked all over, and at the corners, from 1 l. 11 s. 6 d. down to 5 s. 6 d. each; Very fine Bordered and Tamboured Handkerchiefs, as good in quality as any that ever appeared in this country, from 4 s. 6 d. Double Handkerchief to 15 s.; Fine assortment of Finished ditto, edged round as handsome as lace, so very low as 5 s. 6 d. the Double Handkerchief. With a large assortment curious bordered ditto, so low as 2 s. 9 d. each. Also, to be sold, at very moderate prices, an elegant assortment of Chintzes and Silks, and the following articles remarkably low charged: an assortment of all kinds Stripped and Plain Mullins, all breadths and prices, from 2 s. 6 d. to 15 s. per yard. A large and elegant assortment of Black and White Lace Mignonnets and Trolleys. Double Edged Trimming of all sorts. All sorts of Silk Taffeties at 4 l. 4 s. per piece. Inferior sort at 3 l. 13 s. 6 d. double piece. Large assortment of Thread Sattins and Shagreen, as low as 1 l. 1 s. each gown-piece. Large assortment of Plain and Worked Cherrydresses, and Gingsins worked, at 1 l. 12 s. a gown-piece. Plain ditto, at 1 l. 2 s. Fine Stripped Mullin, yard and quarter wide, 2 s. 9 d. per yard. Very elegant assortment of Chintzes, remarkably low. All sorts of Gentlemen's Waistcoat Pieces, Gentlemen's Worked Ruffles, Silk Veldereen for Ladies Shoes and Gentlemen's Waistcoats; each piece makes six pair of shoes, and so low as 9 s. An inferior sort at 7 s. Great variety of Gingsins for Gentlemen's Waistcoats, as low as 3 s. 6 d. each. Waistcoat Breasts. 300 Dozens Silk Handkerchiefs, from 2 s. 9 d. to 6 s. each. Great variety of fine Hollands and Irish Cloths for Gentlemen's shirts. Printed Linsens and Cottons for Gowns.—With a large assortment of other articles more fully expressed in handbills to be had at the place of sale.

Attendance given from 10 o'clock forenoon each day, till 8 in the evening.

MR LANGLEY can with certainty maintain, that, ever since his arrival here, the goods exposed at his Sale-room, as above, have been equal, if not superior, in quality to any that ever appeared in this country; but he is sorry to add, that, on account of the low prices, dealers in this city have found fault, have said many things to his disadvantage, with a view, no doubt, to prejudice him in the public favour.—Notwithstanding of such malice, many principal families in town, as well as respectful persons of different denominations, have bought goods from time to time, and still continue Mr Langley's friends. He hopes, they and the Public in general will favour him with their countenance but for two weeks longer, during which time, he challenges any dealer to produce any of the above articles superior either in beauty or quality.—The low prices are an advantage to purchasers; and, however great a loss to Mr Langley, he is sure no dealer in this country, whatever low hidden advantage he may take to hurt him, will make up the deficiency.

To LET for such number of years as may be agreed upon, THAT DANCING-SCHOOL and DWELLING-HOUSE, consisting of three rooms and a kitchen, with cellars, lying in James's Court, presently possessed by Signora Felice Mercucci. For particulars, enquire at Mr Robert Dudgeon baker in Edinburgh.

LEVEN LODGE.

TO be LET, FURNISHED or UNFURNISHED, and entered to at Whitfordy first, together with a Stable, Coach-house, brew-house, fixed copper, and pump-well, a bathing-room neatly fitted up, and other offices.

Along with the Lodging, which is fit to accommodate a large family, and contains one room thirty feet long, and fourteen feet high, will be let the GARDEN and small Park thereto adjoining, consisting together of about three acres.—The garden is mostly surrounded with a brick-wall of about ten feet high, and is well stocked with fruit-trees of the best kinds.

The premises lie within twenty minutes walk of the cross of Edinburgh, within the toll-bar at Wright's Houses, have easy access for foot passengers by the Meadows, and for carriages by the West Port, and may be seen every Monday, Thursday, and Saturday, from eleven to two o'clock.

For particulars apply at the house, or to James Saunders, writer to the signet, Castlehill.

Hague, Jan. 26. The States of Holland and West Friesland have this day opened their Assen by. It is confirmed that Rear-Admiral Comte Byland, who was to have repaired to the Mediterranean to take the command of the Republic's fleet in that sea, has received orders to return to port. This resolution was taken by the States General on the 18th instant, in consequence of a letter from the Prince Stadtholder, of the same day, signifying, "That the service of the Republic made it necessary for his Serene Highness to issue orders to Rear-Admiral Comte Byland, and the Captains Sylvester and Van Kingbergen, for their immediate return with the ships under their command, and to put in at whatever port was most convenient for them. But that his Serene Highness would not dispatch those orders till he had informed himself of their High Mightinesses pleasure respecting them; and it was his intention, as soon as the ships had entered the ports of the Republic, to require the said Admiral to lay before him an account of his conduct in the encounter with the English Squadron under Commodore Fielding, which his Serene Highness would not fail to acquaint their High Mightinesses with." The States General, approving of the measures proposed by the Prince Stadtholder, commanded that his orders should be dispatched immediately.

Underneath is the report made by Captain Comte Byland to the Admiral, his uncle, of his mission to the English Commodore.

"Having, in obedience to your Excellency's orders, repaired with Captain Marshall on board the English man of war the Namur, commanded by Commodore Fielding, I represented to him, after the usual compliments, how greatly your Excellency was surprised to find, by Captain Marshall, that he had orders, and that it was his intention to visit the Republic's convoy; a proceeding which would be equally contrary to the friendship and treaties subsisting between their High Mightinesses and the King of Great Britain, as to general custom, as the men of war belonging to the Republic had never suffered a visit of that kind. That you was the more astonished, as you had given your word of honour to Captain Marshall, that the convoy had not any such goods as had been deemed contraband in the treaties, nor was it even laden with timber for ship-building, masts, yards, &c.

"The substance of the Commodore's reply was, That he had express orders to visit the convoy; that he should be truly concerned to have recourse to force for that purpose, and that he would use every means in his power to avoid it. I answered, "That I did not know how it would be possible for him to prevent force, if he persisted in his design of visiting the convoy, as it was the fixed resolution of your Excellency not to permit it, and to prevent it, as long as possible, notwithstanding the great superiority against him; but that I could add to the assurances already given, that those vessels of the convoy which were bound for the ports of France, had not on board any materials that could serve for the fitting out of a vessel. But the Commodore required that I should extend this assurance yet farther, so as to include such merchandize as might be fabricated into those materials, namely cordage; in which case, he said, "he would venture to deviate from the strict orders he had received, to visit the convoy, and would be satisfied with the above assurance." But as it was not in my power to do that, the Commodore informed me, that he should execute his orders, and visit the convoy as heretofore; upon which I observed, "that there was no example of such a visit having been ever made before to any of the convoys belonging to the Republic; that the case of Captain Dedel, which was mentioned by the Commodore, confirmed my assertion, that Captain having prevented the visit, till he was obliged to yield to superior force."

"Not being able to succeed by any conciliatory methods, the Commodore declared, that he must then proceed to the execution of his orders; but, to prevent confusion, and an unnecessary effusion of blood, he would wait till the next day, and at sun-rise should make a signal for the ships to send the sloops to visit the convoy. Upon which I, on my side, declared, "that, in that case, your Excellency would certainly give fire." The Commodore informed me, in the course of our conversation, that he had been sent to sea for the sole purpose of visiting the convoy, and to bring it in, if it should be found to be laden with naval stores, shewing me, at the same time, a list of vessels, written on two pages of paper, which were known to have been in the Texel, charged with naval stores for the ports of France, and which, it was supposed, were all to fall with this convoy.

F. I. COMTE DE BYLAND.

On board the man of war of the Republic, the Princess Royal Frederica Sophia Wilhelmina, Dec. 30. 1779.

From the London Gazette, February 5.
AT the Court at St James's, the 2d of February, 1780.
P. R. E. S. E. N. T.

The KING's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.
THIS day the Right Honourable Francis Lord Viscount Beauchamp, Cofferer of his Majesty's Household, was, by his Majesty's command, sworn of his Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, and took his place at the Board accordingly.

St James's, Feb. 5. The King has been pleased to constitute Mr Stuart Grace to be Clerk of the Commisariat of St Andrew.

From the London Papers, Feb. 5.
L O N D O N.

Yesterday some important dispatches were brought to the Admiralty from the Governor of Plymouth.

This morning some dispatches were received from Gibraltar, by which there is advice, that they had a severe gale of wind there the 16th of December, but none of the ships received any damage.

Several of the ships which were out in the hurricane at Madeira put into Fyall, with the loss of their mails.

Letters from Cadiz mention, that a hurricane happened there on the 16th of December, by which a deal of damage was done, both on shore and amongst the shipping. Several vessels were drove a shore and lost, with part of the crews.

The report which has circulated about for some days, of the Spanish fleet being dispersed in a gale of wind, took its rise from the hurricane which happened there on the 16th of December, as by a letter received, dated the 10th of January, from Cadiz, the fleet were all safe there, with a number of transports.

A house at Nantz, which has carried on a great trade for more than sixty years with a most respectable character, has lately failed in consequence of their American connections.

A fleet was preparing with the utmost dispatch for immediate service, which is to be commanded by Admiral Barington, who will hoist his flag on board the Barileur, now fitting out at Portsmouth.

The Hon. Boyle Walsingham, it is said, will have a broad pendant, and go second in command with Admiral Barington, on board the Thunderer now in dock at Portsmouth, sheathed with copper.

The ground, for miles round Pensacola, is a sandy desert; so that all sorts of garden-stuff are a rarity there. On this account, the captain of a vessel which went thither from Lancashire, about two years ago, not having a full lading of goods, filled the hold with potatoes, picked in sugar hog-heads, and, though nearly one half of them were rotten when they arrived there, yet, so anxious was every body to have them, that he sold them at upwards of 200 per cent. more than the first cost.

No less than 8000 French prisoners have been exchanged since the commencement of the Cartel, which has not been settled more than a month; and it is supposed 12,000 more are still remaining in different parts of England.

It is said, that government have lately contracted with some private shipbuilders on the river for building several small vessels for the purpose of navigation in the small rivers in America, and on the coast of Guinea.

Private intelligence from France says, that immediately after the first consultation between the King, Monsieur de Sartine, and the Lieutenant-General of the marines, orders were dispatched to Havre and St Maloes for the transports to take in their provisions, and be in readiness to receive on board 16,000 men, who were ordered into immediate motion for the above purpose.

From Brest there is information, that the squadron of men of war, destined on the expedition with the above troops, is ordered to be augmented to 16 sail of the line; that they are preparing with great expedition, but are at a sad loss for seamen.

A fleet of observation is to be formed early in the spring, which are to rendezvous at Spithead, and are to consist of 24 ships of the line, besides others of inferior rates. They are to have three months provisions on board, and to be in readiness for sailing on the shortest notice.

Yesterday being the day appointed for a fast, to implore the Divine blessing on his Majesty's arms, the Lord Chancellor and several members of the House of Peers went in procession to Westminster-abbey, where a sermon was preached on the occasion by the Right Rev. Dr Warren, Lord Bishop of St David's.—The House of Commons, attended by their Speaker, went in procession to St Margaret's church; where a sermon was preached by the Rev. Arthur Onslow, their chaplain.—And the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor, attended by the two Sheriffs, city officers, &c. &c. went to St Paul's Cathedral, where a sermon was preached by the Rev. Mr Wight, his Lordship's chaplain.

Thursday came on at Lincoln's Inn Hall, before the Lord Chancellor and the Lord Chief Justice, the important hearing of an information brought by an Attorney General against Mr Reilly, an upholsterer, for suing out a writ against Mr Pizzoni, the late Resident from the Republic of Venice; Mr Gapper, an attorney, for having signed it; and Mr Cadwron, a Sheriff's officer, for having executed it, at a time when Pizzoni was entitled to the privileges of an Ambassador. The Counsel for the Crown, to protect the right of Ambassadors in this country, were, the Attorney and Solicitor General; for the defendants, Mr Mansfield, Mr Howarth, Mr Mingay, and Mr Stackpole. Before the cause was entered into, the Court informed the defendants, that the proceedings of the information were, in point of law, not strictly regular, and, if insisted on, they must be amended; but as that step would protract time without answering any substantial ground, it was advisable to waive any objection, and to proceed on the merits: The defendants admitted the facts as stated, and contended, that if liable to censure, it was for an error of understanding only, and not for a wilful violation of the sacred privileges of the foreign Ambassadors; for this was a case that stood on very particular circumstances. Monsieur Pizzoni, was understood to be no longer a public man; he was succeeded by Monsieur Cavalli in his public capacity, and staid afterwards more than eight days in this kingdom, consequently he had a reasonable time to depart; and the defendants considering him in the character of a private subject, had been (if wrong) misled in their own judgments. That on being told by the Solicitor of the Treasury of the mistake, Monsieur Pizzoni was released.

Thursday morning about nine o'clock, Westminster-hall was crowded with people to hear the sentence of the Court pronounced on several members of the late Council of Madras, who signed an authority for deposing Lord Pigot, and removing him from his government into confinement, of which they were convicted the sittings after last Michaelmas term. The Attorney-general moved for judgment in a short speech, full of strong observations on the offence, and the nature of it, which was, he observed, of so extraordinary and aggravated a complexion as would, he trusted, meet with the proper punishment. It was not for him to direct the Court in their determination; but he begged leave to deliver his opinion of the degree of punishment which so high a misdemeanor deserved; for it was no less than a revolution of legal government. The peace and good order of the East India Company's settlement being already disturbed by civil contentions with the Rajah of Tanjore, the step of deposing Lord Pigot had been nearly productive of the most serious consequences, and anarchy might have totally defeated the restoration of the Rajah to his kingdom, of which he had been dispossessed by the Nabob of Arcot. He therefore thought a fine, imprisonment, and incapacitation from serving government in any post whatever, would be a very proper judgment on the defendants. Mr Rous followed his learned leader upwards of an hour, and improved with many pointed observations on the same heads of argument. Mr Dunning, counsel for the defendant, offered many affidavits in extenuation, to the reading of which the Attorney-general objected; but he was over-ruled by the Court, and the affidavits were read, which run over all the parts of the defence urged upon the trial, and some new matter which was not then entered upon for want of evidence: Mr Dunning pleaded for two hours, to combat the Attorney-general's speech. The Court adjourned the argument until tomorrow, to hear the replies, and give judgment.

Extract of a letter from Cadiz, by the way of Amsterdam, Jan. 6.

"Orders are just received here from Court, to suspend the operations in fitting out the flota, which usually sails the last week in March for South America; and to make the greater application in fitting out the men of war, many of which are in bad condition, and want repair. It is thought from this that no ships will be sent to America this year, as there are so many English cruisers, men of war, and privateers, on the look-out for them. The war is severely felt here on the score of commerce, trade being quite at a stand, even the Dutch merchants not chusing to export what they think will fall into the enemy's hands, except from their own ports. The stores are full of wines, fruit, &c. which, if they do not find a vent, will prove a great loss and inconvenience to the dealers. Our only hope is, that the present war may not be much longer than the last. An ordinance is published, forbidding all persons to talk of politics at Madrid."

Extract of a letter from Madrid, Jan. 12.

"The following ships sailed under Admiral Cordova from Brest for Cadiz, and arrived there on the 31st ult.—The Trinity, 112 guns; the St Nicholas, 80; the Jupiter, 20; the L'Orient and St Ferdinand, 70; the St Francis, St Ildephonsus, and the St Raphael, 70; the St Ildephonsus, 60; and St Giles, 18. The remainder of them, being fifteen in number, went for other ports to be repaired, being all very much damaged."

Extract of a letter from Madrid, Jan. 14.

"Courier upon courier have lately been passing and repassing to and from hence to Versailles, with dispatches relative to a very consequential misunderstanding that has arisen between the two Courts. The idea of taking Gibraltar is entirely laid aside, and a peace with England is the ardent wish of the mercantile people. The mob in this city has been very riotous, and a few evenings since burnt the French Admiral, the Count d'Estaing, in effigy. Warlike preparations still continue in the ports of Spain to be carried on with the utmost alacrity, but the people in general are displeased at being dragged into a war by the artifices of the French Ministry."

INTELLIGENCE FROM LLOYD'S.

"The New Newry Packet, from Newry to Liverpool, is sunk near Newry."

"The Sufanna, Baker, from Newfoundland to England, is taken by a French frigate, and carried into Brest."

"Portsmouth, Feb. 2. The Triumph, of 74 guns, and Ambuscade, of 32, sheathed with copper, are gone out of harbour to Spithead."

"Extract of a letter from Larne, the 20th of Jan. The James and Mary, M'Tier, from Memel, is safe arrived here. It was lucky that this vessel was Irish property, as she was boarded by a privateer under American colours in the north seas, but allowed to pass."

"Extract of a letter from Corke, 23d of January. The Industry, of Bristol, Captain Phillips, arrived at Crookhaven the 20th instant, from Madeira; she sailed the 2d ditto, and brings the following intelligence, viz. that at Madeira, on the nights of the 15th and 16th ult. from a very heavy southerly gale, of about 24 hours, the vessels then lying in the road were drove on shore, viz. the ship Knotts-Green, of London, Captain Phillips, for Antigua, the mate and 20 men and boys drowned, the vessel and cargo totally lost. The brig Bell, Howe, of London, for New York; two men and two boys drowned, the vessel and cargo totally lost. The brig Leonora, Howe, from Penzance for Penzance; one man and two boys drowned (no cargo on board) the vessel totally lost. The brig D. Jeffrow Amelida, de Boez, from Amsterdam for St Eutatia, the crew saved, also part of the cargo, but damaged, the vessel totally lost. The Industry fell in with about 30 vessels, from England for the West Indies; in lat. 37. long. 16. spoke the Andromeda frigate, one of the convoy. The Amazon privateer, of Belfast, came into Madeira the 19th of December, for a supply of provisions, but was forced out by the weather without them, and had not returned when the Industry sailed."

"Plymouth, Jan. 30. Yesterday, arrived his Majesty's ships Intrepid and Crescent; this day, sailed his Majesty's ships Intrepid and Misford, with a fleet of transports under their convoy."

"The Peter, Barrals, is condemned at Antigua, being unfit to proceed to Quebec; which, with her cargo, is ordered to be sold."

E D I N B U R G H.

Extract of a letter from London, Feb. 4.

"This day, the Committee of the House of Commons determined the question respecting the merits of the election for the county of Fife, when, after some deliberation, they came to the following resolutions, viz. That General Skene was not duly elected; 2do, That Mr Henderson was duly elected; 3tio, That the return ought to be amended accordingly.

"The counsel for the petitioner were, Messrs. Hardinge and Anstruther; and for the sitting member, Messrs. Lee and Erskine.—The case was argued with great abilities upon both sides; but the appearance of Mr Anstruther, a young gentleman lately called to the bar, was particularly distinguished. It not only met with universal applause from all who were present, but Mr Montague, the Chairman, was pleased to express the highest approbation in the name of the Committee."

GENERAL SKENE present his Compliments to all his Friends in the County of Fife, and begs the continuance of their favour and support at the next Election. He will soon wait of them in person to make that request, and shall take care not to leave it in the power of any future Committee to disappoint their kind intentions towards him, or forfeit them of their right of choosing their own Representative.

Extract of a letter, received Jan. 26. from Capt. Bennett, of the Lenox man of war, at Cove, to a gentleman in Corke.

"A vessel arrived last night from Appledore, the master of which (a man much to be depended upon) reports, that an express had passed through, and mentioned, that Admiral Sir John Ross had taken a Spanish 70 gun ship, with five frigates and many transports: That he had put the 13th regiment on shore at Gibraltar, and landed six months provisions for the garrison; and that Sir Andrew Hammond had taken a very rich tobacco ship."

Sunday last, died here, Mr Gilbert Auchinleck, cutler. It is hoped his friends and relations will accept of this as a proper notification of his death.

George Innes of Stow, Esq; died here on Monday last.

Yesterday, the Court of Session determined a cause which had long depended, and which was of great importance to coal-masters in general, where James Bruce, Esq; of Kinaird, was pursuer, and Carron Company defenders, concerning the implement of several stipulations in the lease of Kinaird coal let to the Company, and for damages for having contravened the same in sundry particulars. The Court, after a full hearing, and memorials, found for the pursuer, with damages, and costs of suit.

The counsel for the pursuer were, Hay Campbell and George Fergusson, Esquires; Mr William Mackillop, agent: For the defenders, Andrew Crosbie and Robert Blair, Esquires; Mr John Macgowan, agent.

Yesterday, the vacancy of Treasurer to Heriot's Hospital, by the resignation of John Carmichael, Esq; was supplied, Archibald Macdowal, Esq; one of the present Magistrates of Edinburgh, having been elected by a very considerable majority. There are not, however, a few in this city, who think those who would be thought the rulers have rather been out of their politics upon this occasion. By offering a majority of the Council, who were for one of the losing candidates, and allowing the Clergy, in a great measure, to make the election, the former may resent it upon some future opportunity; and many do not scruple to say, that this will actually be the case.

It will no doubt afford matter of surprise to the Public to be informed, that the Committee of Correspondence for the Protestant Interest in this city, which figured away with so much eclat in support of their religious tenets, have absolutely refused every assistance to their President Lord George Gordon, though warmly called upon by his Lordship for that purpose, in the present struggle he is engaged in for the relief of their distressed brethren in England. How unlike such a conduct to the step taken by the Eighty-five Societies in and about Glasgow! And, what an ample field does it not open for animadversion, by those who were formerly but too ready to entertain suspicions, with regard to the real motives of our Committee? To-morrow night, it is probable, some laughable strictures, on this subject, will be thrown out in the Pantheon, as they are then to have under debate the propriety of associating with the English Association.

Extract of a letter from Aberdeen, Feb. 7.

"We have at last the pleasure to announce the arrival of our London trade, four of which are come in yesterday. It is about six months since some of them failed from this port, and they were unfortunately detained in the Frith about two months, waiting convoy."

FOR THE CALEDONIAN MERCURY.

A N O T H E R C A R D.

A BYSTANDER presents his most respectful compliments to Messrs. the Young Officer, and the Old one, and desires to return his thanks to the last of these Gentlemen, for the information communicated in his Card of yesterday, respecting the Royal Muss of his Majesty of Prussia, which is certainly no less surprising than new. There is still, however, in the opinion of the Bystander, some little difficulty attending this solution of the Young Officer's query: For, supposing that any soldier in the Highland uniform should, in imitation of the illustrious Frederick, take it into his head to appear muffed, it might, perhaps, be thought somewhat inconsistent, to take so much pains in warming his hands, when, at the same time, certain other parts of his body, perhaps equally sensible, were exposed to every blast: And, as it has not been said, that the King of Prussia wears any muff upon his hands, it may possibly puzzle the Mussi to point out an example of this.

Prince's-street, Tuesday.

An Extract of a letter from York, and part of one from Newcastle, till properly authenticated, cannot have a place. Those who sent them, therefore, will be so good as call at the Printing-office for that purpose.

An OLD GRECIAN in our next.

NERVA shall have a place as soon as possible.

C's Criticisms are abundantly ill-natured, and, allowing them to be just, are certainly out of time.

PROPOSITIONS.

I. That all the East India Company's present charter-rights and privileges shall be preserved to them entire, and their exclusive trade prolonged for the term of ten years, besides the three years notice to be given, according to the provision made for that purpose in the sublimiting Act of the 17th of George II.

II. That, in consideration of all their present charter-rights and privileges of exclusive trade being preserved and prolonged, as aforesaid, the East India Company shall advance and pay into his Majesty's Exchequer, for the use of the public, One Million of Pounds Sterling, without interest, at such times, and in such proportions, as shall be agreed upon between the Lords Commissioners of his Majesty's Treasury and the Court of Directors of the said Company.

III. That the said sum of One Million shall be repaid on or before the 25th day of March 1790; and the Company's right to an exclusive trade shall not be determined after that time until the said One Million shall be repaid, as well as the 4,300,000 l. now due from the public to the Company.

IV. That the Company be authorized and empowered to borrow on bond, under their common Seal, or otherwise, any sum or sums of money, not exceeding One Million, over and above the amount of their present bond debt in England.

V. That in cases of necessity, the Company shall be at liberty, with the approbation and consent of the Lords of the Treasury, to borrow upon bond, or otherwise, any sum or sums of money not exceeding Five Hundred Thousand Pounds, over and above the amount of their present bond debt, and of the additional Million to be borrowed as before-mentioned; or over and above any less sum, which shall happen to be their bond debt, when such cases of necessity shall arise. But, as the money so to be borrowed will only be for relief in temporary exigencies, it shall not affect any of the provisions made in the following propositions respecting dividends to be made amongst the Proprietors.

VI. That each and every year, a distinct account of the neat profits of the Company be made up; and that each year the neat profits be divided in the manner following: viz.

The Company shall always receive 8 per cent. if the profits be equal thereto.

The public shall also receive eight per cent. if the profits amount to 16 per cent.

When the profits are less than 16 per cent. the public shall receive all above 8 per cent.

If the profits exceed 16 per cent. the surplus shall be equally divided between the public and the Company.

And the moiety of the surplus appropriated to the Company, shall, each year, after payment of the increased dividend herein after-mentioned, be applied to the discharge of the Company's debt.

VII. That, to the present dividend of 8 per cent. to the Proprietors, shall be added an increase of dividend, not exceeding 1 per cent. each, and every year, until the dividend shall be 10 per cent. per ann. if the Company's moiety of the profits be equal thereto; and from that period, or soon after, as 400,000 l. of the present debt shall be paid off, a further additional dividend of 1 per cent. per ann. shall be made; and when the further sum of 400,000 l. shall be paid off, another addition of 1 per cent. per ann. dividend; and when 200,000 l. the remainder of the Million now to be borrowed, shall be paid off, the dividend shall be increased to 12½ per cent. per ann.

VIII. That the Company shall remain in possession of all the territorial acquisitions and revenues of the Dénawé of Bengal, Bahar, and Orissa, for and during the term of the exclusive trade to be granted to the Company, in the same manner as they are now entitled to their other territorial acquisitions and revenues, without prejudice to the claim of the public or of the Company.

IX. That the term of this agreement of participation between the public and the Company shall commence and take place on and from the 1st day of March 1780.

X. That in order to the utmost of their power, to alleviate the public burdens, whenever the situation of affairs shall render it necessary for the Company to apply to Government for a naval force, or for troops to be sent to, and remain in the East Indies, the Company shall contribute towards defraying the expense thereof out of such surplus-money as shall arise from the territorial revenues in Bengal, and remain in their treasury, after providing for all usual expenses, and for the Company's European investments, and for supplies to China and their other settlements; and likewise, after reserving a fund of 1,000,000 l. in the Company's treasuries in India, for contingencies; or 700,000 l. in Bengal, and 300,000 l. in the other treasuries of the Company in India, over and above the amount of the Company's debts in India; then the supply to be allowed and paid by the Company to Government, on account of naval and military expenses to be incurred as aforesaid, shall extend to the payment of a sum not exceeding 30,000 l. per annum for every ship of 74 guns, and 25,000 l. per annum for every ship of 64 guns; and 10,000 l. per annum for every frigate employed in India; not exceeding two ships of 74 guns each, six ships of 64 guns each, and three frigates, in time of war; and not exceeding three ships of 64 guns each, and two frigates, in time of peace. And also to the payment of a sum not exceeding 20,000 l. per annum for one regiment of land forces, consisting of 1000 men; and 40,000 l. per annum for two regiments, if wanted, consisting of 2000 men, provided it is necessary to expend such sums on the above number of ships and troops in India, amounting in the whole to a sum not exceeding 230,000 l. in time of war, or not exceeding 135,000 l. in time of peace; which payment shall be made in India, and computed at and after the rate of 2 s. 3 d. the current rupee of Bengal, from whence the said supplies must always be obtained.

XI. That the power of nominating and removing the Governor General and Council of Bengal be henceforth veiled in the Directors of the East India Company, according to the provision made for that purpose in the act of the 13th of his present Majesty.

XII. That in order to ascertain the nett profits arising from the Company's trade and revenues, an account shall be made up, of the profit and loss upon the whole of the said trade and revenues, together with a state of the Company's debts in England, exclusive of their bond debt, to the first day of March in every year; and the first of such statements or accounts shall be made up on the first day of March 1781, or so soon afterwards as the necessary materials can be prepared for the year preceding. And every such statement or account fairly written, and signed by two or more Directors of the Company, shall be transmitted within thirty days after the day to which it shall be made up to the Commissioners of his Majesty's Treasury, or to the High Treasurer for the time being.

XIII. That accounts of the gross amount of all the territorial revenues received by the Company, and of all their disbursements, changes of management, civil, military, and other expenses and charges, and of the nett proceeds in each of the settlements of the Company, shall also be annually made up, and presented to the Lords of the Treasury, on or so soon after the first day of March in each year, as the receipt of the necessary materials from India shall enable the Company to form such accounts.

XIV. That the moiety of the surplus profits to be appropriated to the public shall be paid annually into his Majesty's exchequer, for the disposition of Parliament.

XV. That the power of drawing bills of exchange upon the Court of Directors be restrained, as it is by the act of 13th George the Third.

XVI. That no bill, promissory note, or other obligation for money, issued, or to be issued, by any of the Company's Presidents and Councils, or servants in India, or in China, and made payable there, shall become payable in England, without the consent of the Court of Directors first obtained for that purpose.

XVII. That no bill or bills of exchange, drawn upon the Company, or Court of Directors, by any of their servants in India, or in China, beyond the amount authorized by, or contrary to the orders of the Court of Directors, shall be obligatory or binding upon the Company in England, until such bill or bills shall have been accepted; but every holder of such bill or bills of exchange shall have recourse to the person or persons who may have paid the same, as the drawer or drawers thereof.

XVIII. That no British subject, in the service of the Company, or licensed by them to proceed to India, shall reside in any other place in India than one of the Company's principal settlements, or within twenty miles thereof, without special orders, or license in writing, from the Company, or from their President or Governor and Council; nor shall any such person or persons reside beyond such limits, as aforesaid, for longer time than shall be specified in the Company's orders, or in his or their license or licenses respectively.

XIX. That the servants of the Company in India be restrained from lending money to foreign companies, and to foreign merchants, and from purchasing goods in India for such companies or merchants, to be sent to Europe, and from being concerned directly or indirectly; and also, from furnishing them with the credit of bills, drawn upon their correspondents, or other persons in Europe.

XX. That the Company's exclusive rights and privileges of trade be so extended, as to prevent the importation of goods and merchandizes, the produce of the East Indies, by the way of Suez, or by any other channel, to the prejudice of the Company.

XXI. That such regulations be formed as shall, if possible, prevent smuggling; and that no power of remission, or mitigation, be vested in the Court of Directors.

XXII. That the Company be permitted to lodge recruits, destined for their settlements in the East Indies, in Tilbury Fort, Jersey, or Guernsey, or in some other of his Majesty's forts, with one officer to superintend the same, and a sufficient number of servants, to take care of the men, in order to obviate the difficulties, and to prevent the expense occasioned by the want of such accommodation.

XXIII. That the Company be enabled to import and export goods to and from this kingdom, and places within the limits of the Company's charter, in ships by purchase, or otherwise the property of the Company, the same being navigated in the manner prescribed by the laws now in being, respecting British built ships.

XXIV. That the Company's marine force at Bombay, and their other principal settlements in India, be made subject to the like articles and rules as the ships of war in his Majesty's service, so far as the circumstances of the said marine force may render the same practicable; and that the President and Council, in the respective settlements, be authorized to issue warrants for holding Courts-martial for the trial of offenders.

XXV. That such other regulations be made for the better management of the Company's affairs, as, on further consideration, shall be found necessary, and be required by the Company.

XXVI. That the Court of Directors will recommend the above propositions to their constituents, but that nothing can be finally concluded without the concurrence of the Court of Proprietors.
